Konnichiwa & Greetings to Our Populace

We are sorry that NCBB had to be postponed and We hope everyone is recuperating from the storm. The autocrat was able to reschedule and We hope all of you can attend Our Baronial Birthday on April 18-20. We wish to thank the Autocrat & the Staff for all that they have done for this Event.

We have extended the deadline for Champions Letters of Intent. If you are interested please email your letters to us at:
gillasd {at} bellsouth.net barontakeda {at} yahoo.com

We're happy to announce the Heavy & Rapier WarLords for WoW. Lord Olaf Stammkopf (Heavy) & Lord Marcus Octavius (Rapier). We have every confidence that these Lords will bring Honor & Victory to the Barony.

As always We remain,

In Service to the Dream,
Takeda & Ariel
Baron & Baroness, Nottingham Coill

The Marshall's Cross by Sir Bryce

1 cup honey
½ tsp cinnamon
¼ tsp ginger
¼ tsp galingale
2 tbs pine nuts

Slice and toast the bread. Toast the pine nuts in a medium oven or toaster until golden brown. Warm honey on medium heat and skim if needed. Stir in the spices and then add the pine nuts. Spoon onto toast slices.

Comments:

Can be served as a first course (as an alternative to the standard bread and honey butter) or as a dessert. The original recipe doesn't call for the pine nuts to be toasted but I think it gives it a much better flavor. If you can't find galingale you can double the amount of ginger. I've seen an alternative redaction that uses nutmeg and cardamom in the recipe instead of galingale.
